The CHRONICLE

2024-25

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

It gives us enormous happiness and fulfilment to once again introduce our own magazine "CHRONICLE". Very much like the Deities and the asuras agitated the oceans of milk to remove the nectar, we have attempted to produce inventiveness from the vast creativeness of IIMTU. A great deal of exertion has gone into the creation of this issue. We genuinely want to believe that you all appreciate perusing the magazine. The best thing about this issue is that it addresses the innovative side of IIMTU.

Every day, news headlines alert us to the ongoing challenges faced by humanity; from climate change and systemic racism to crumbling health-care systems and gender inequalities. Meeting these challenges calls for an overhaul in the way we think, plan and take action. It's also a reminder that for progress to happen, we need to work together.

Our honourable chancellor sir announced IIMTU's plans to provide every student with experiential learning opportunities starting 2023 - 2024 academic sessions. This ambitious goal — to ensure that tomorrow's leaders can thrive in an increasingly multidisciplinary working environment — comes at a time when decisive action is most needed.

Through field schools, internships, academic & non-academic competitions and more, IIMTU is working with internal and external partners to deliver a next-gen education. Together, they'll help prepare students for a world that demands clever and innovative solutions to a range of issues, some of which we may not yet know exist.

Our inspiring students are helping to lead advances in health, the arts, business, technology and more. Each in their own way, our Alumni demonstrate how success can be achieved when we collaborate as students and researchers, community partners and government, and grass-roots organisations and corporations, big and small.

As you read through the pages of this magazine, you'll see how IIMTIANS all around are rallying together — across disciplines at the institution and across sectors beyond the university's walls — to share expertise and advance reforms for a better future.

Our researchers demonstrate how the arts can help us cope with grief; our Women empowerment movement have boosted our women staff's morale who are leading change in their communities and across the country; and our research spotlight highlights faculty members who are driving innovation through a multidisciplinary approach. These stories and more show how we can address urgent challenges through thoughtful collaborations — collaborations fostered by higher education.

Finally, we hope you enjoy every stop on this tour of IIMTU today and always and enjoy reading this issue as much as we have enjoyed making it. We look forward to serving you and making the next issue of Chronicle even more inventive. As we near the end of 2023, we wish you all the best in the year ahead!

"A true leader has confidence to stand alone, the courage to make tough decisions and the compassion to listen to the needs of others. He does not set out to be a leader, but becomes one by maintaining the highest standards and going extra mile."

Dr. Mayank Agarwal

Pro-Chancellor

IIMT University, Meerut.

Greetings to all the readers!!

It is a matter of honor, immense pleasure and contentment for me to lead the team of IIMT University as a Vice-Chancellor. Having served this institution for more than 21 years now, I have witnessed this institution grown from a sapling to this giant fruit laden tree, transformed from one college to group of colleges and then to a University. I am privileged to nurture this institution with all my energy and potential in various capacities during this journey of transformation.

This transformation could take place as we had utmost clarity and an unwavering commitment towards the Vision of the Institution and to bring change in the lives of people, as every life associated with IIMTU holds enormous significance for us.

Today, I am delighted to share that this issue of magazine "Chronicle" is not only the Chronicle of all the activities and accomplishments of the past six months but also the genesis of a different era in this institution. This issue is the embodiment of the strong legacy that IIMT holds and swear of the glorious future.

IIMTU gives a lot of importance to holistic learning, honing the soft skills besides subject knowledge thereby providing the glossary to succeed while encouraging a desire to bring a positive change in the society. I also take this opportunity to welcome the new students coming from pan India and urge them to participate in all Co-Curricular and Extra Curricular activities besides academics and research.

This will facilitate them to transform and emerge as winners in this ever changing competitive world.

When Albert Einstein wrote "The measure of intelligence is the ability to change", he was clear with the fact that change brings development, growth and new horizons. I urge all my dear students and faculty members to push their limits every day, evaluate themselves and commit to their growth as there is no abiding success without Commitment.

We must DO whatever it takes to excel and grow!!

Training @IIMTU

“THE FUTURE BELONGS TO THOSE WHO LEARN MORE SKILLS AND COMBINE THEM IN CREATIVE WAYS.”

The regular method of instruction gives more accentuation to theoretical knowledge than abilities to apply the information. Be that as it may, in the present cut-throat world, this isn't enough for making progress. This is why, preparing our students is a fundamental piece of the educational plan of IIMTU's Training Department.

We assist with preparing students to be mindful and industry-prepared. This assists them with being prepared to enter the Work force and eliminates the work businesses need to place into freshers thus, making our students stand out in the ocean of students.

With regards to students preparation we offer everything from Relational abilities preparation to business advancement. Our projects impart a hard-line corporate demeanour inside students that makes it simpler for them to break into their preferred career. All the more critically, our trainers know about how testing it tends to be to be employable. Our Inclination as well as Employability abilities programs assist students with accomplishing the best accomplishment. Few highlights of our training programs are:

Classroom Training on PI

Group Discussion Activity

Team Building Activity
